A27 x 4

B78 x 2

Explanation

Some letters and spot heights to pass through for both classes.

Then three avoid map references for the Novices for some diversions off the direct route. Plot those MR's carefully and the correct route becomes clear.

For the Experts, the diversions are instructed by the number of stretches on numbered roads, remembering to count the XSO on the way to SH38 as the first visit to the A27.

A trip round the triangle where the B78 meets the A27 does not meet the B78 x 2 requirement as both sides of the triangle are parts of the B78, therefore only one use of that numbered road. You have to leave the B78 before you can rejoin it for the second use. The road exiting the map to the west in GS0049 is (somewhat unexpectedly) also the B78, but the little white link is not.

And the route is still hugging the edge of the map!
