Explanation

The same circular herringbone for both classes, but with the direction and a couple of spot heights added to help the Novices.

For the Novices the SH73 is the key if you have noticed that it is half a mile down the road from TC6. You have “missed a left” to get there and (as you know it goes anti-clockwise) that gives you the starting point, and all of sudden your intimidating circular herring bone has become a much more straightforward one. The five way junction is just reassurance that you have found the correct route.

That 5 way junction is the key for Experts to find the starting point. To get to it from TC6 you must either “miss one right”, or “miss one left, miss one right”. So that tells you it is going anti-clockwise, and quickly also gives you the starting point at between 6 and 7 o'clock, as starting between 5 and 6 o'clock takes you off the map at the 5 way junction.

For the Experts it is the crossroads straight on which provides the reassurance.
