Explanation

A gentle start to Leg 2 for both classes.

Novices have the MR of TC10. Plotting that TC will get Novices familiar with the 'off-north' angle of the gridlines on this map. That is just to get the whole route on an A4 extract rather than for any disorientating effect.

The "te" (in "Hotel") is tucked away a bit, but should be spotted quite easily when you know the direction where the route is headed.

Experts have to take the off-northness (?) into account to plot TC10 correctly. And also that the shortest route to TC10 is back via SH29 (which is not given to them) rather than approaching TC10 from the North, perhaps encouraged by expectations that the route is going to head off east.
